Detailed interior fitout design and specification

Haines Phillips Architects were appointed by Quinn London Limited to prepare detailed production information for the refurbishment of the 8th floor offices of Melbourne House, part of the King's College London campus.

Our services included the design, specification and scheduling of glazed and sliding partitions, doors, fixtures and finishes, and the careful coordination of mechanical and electrical services and specialist elements such as fire safety and IT installations.

The project involved the partial strip out of the existing office layout, and the installation of a new arrangement of offices, meeting rooms and ancillary areas to house the Principal and Vice Principals of King's College.
